Neglected parameter, dimension, context
of this "problem" — foreign aggression,
occupation (in IV)

(Wg does it best so often to

1) Dirty War, atrocities, torture?

2) Stalemate, despite asymmetry of strength?

Context is ^{usually} imperialism

(or ethnic/regional conflict for power/autonomy/sovereignty)

Imperialism: foreign domination, occupation

This motivates fierce, resolute, selfrenewing (replacing great casualties),
tenacious (won't give up)

nationalist (ethnic: Ireland?)

struggle — willing to accept persistent asymmetry in casualties (or torture)

(the technologically ^{+ numerically} "weaker" side (in active numbers))

suffers disproportionate casualties —
only with "non-combatants"

(although it's not numerically weaker when its "civ" "tail" is included!)

For US combat forces, "tail" is 5x1
for combat troops;

might be larger, for guerrillas!
(see San Juan OB!)

Compare NLF + NVA combat units to US combat units!

A reason for word for "10x1" ratio:
10 includes occupies "tail"!

fring, V.H., Algeria

Poe an is to get locals to reign thanks to foreign, imperial domination; to give up Resistance to accept local rules* dom by foreign, displacement or foreign, seeing foreign, denying self-determination, "unfulfilled", (social welfare, popular demands: unions,

Foreigners are

is not rightfully
this, not "home"

This nationalist dimension gives the popular sympathy that guerrillas or "terrorists" need to persist (Stalinist) — Tell foreigners (go home) (just: to deny "long/summer" domination ^{accept})
